

Indiana State University

ENVI 110L Section 002

Introduction To Environmental Science Lab

Catalog Course Description

A laboratory that illustrates the concepts of environmental science as presented in ENVI 110.

Faculty Information

Name:Valentina Alekseitseva

Email:valekseitseva@sycamores.indstate.edu

Department:Earth And Environmental Systems

Office Hours:F 11AM-1 PM, S170

Course Learning Objectives

As a lab science Foundational Studies course, ENVI 110L meets the following leaning objectives:

- Present scientific data in graphical or tabular format.
- Interpret and/or draw evidence-based conclusions from scientific data.
- Evaluate the usefulness or veracity of a hypothesis or theory using data and logic.
- Communicate the results of an analysis.

Required Textbooks and Materials

Introductory Environmental Science Lab (e-book) by J.C. Latimer

Graded Elements of the Course

Pre-lab quizzes, lab reports/assignments, presentation of group research project.